

Contribution from Palkonya

Possible extension of the text of the Charter of Villages

1. Village in the mind

Another very important aspect of the village can be the "inside picture", the image of the village - how the village itself is reflected in its inhabitants' mind. It is very much connected with the identity of people and the real outlook of the settlement. What we call cultural landscape is nothing else than the physical realisation of the inhabitants' images about their own village.

Leonóra Becker Palkonya, 2001.